KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a yellow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for cod liver oil and the liver and bowels which he gave to his patients in years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle but their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

New York, April 1 (AP).—Federal Judge Francis A. Winslow, against whom articles of impeachment were recently read in Congress, announced his resignation from the federal bench through his attorney today.

A sub-committee was appointed to investigate and the preliminary inquiry was to have begun this afternoon. Before it could get under way, however, Martin Conboy, who had been retained to defend Judge Winslow, announced the jurist's resignation.

Blue, Black Used for Spring Frocks

Woven Designs Have Taken Precedence Over the Printed Silks

Whenever I go from New York to smaller cities and to the country I am met with the question: "What is new? What is being worn in New York?" says Jane Warren Wells in Farm and Fireside.

The more fashion showings I attend—and I attend them all, from those of the fabric manufacturers to those held by the New York stores and importers—the more certain I am that to be well dressed a woman must know the new and then, with greatest care, select from that what is best and most suitable to her.

The spring season promises to be abundant in blue and black. If you are planning to choose a dull crepe in either color remember in making your decision that blue is the more flattering. It does not bring out lines as much as black and is less exacting about perfection in grooming.

In buying your new spring clothes consider the beautiful sports fabrics in silk and light-weight wool and make yourself at least one tailored dress of real sports material. Make it simply but carefully and you will wear it proudly throughout the entire season.

Woven designs in silk have taken precedence over printed designs and we can take this as an indication that the silhouette will be tailored and simple because woven fabrics with design must be cut on straight lines and made more simple than printed fabrics.

All fabrics for this spring are made of fine yarn, no matter whether the material is silk, wool, cotton, or linen. They are all a little finer in type, more closely woven and lighter in weight than before. This perhaps is because even though curves are really coming back the slender silhouette continues to prevail. And slender lines create a demand for light-weight materials.

The surplice dress with its shirred, circular skirt is an ideal frock for the mature woman, especially if the belt is made very narrow and extends all the way around the front. A full collar may seem more becoming, in which case a two-inch straight band of material might be added across the back neck to make a turn-down collar. Or a bias tie might be tacked across the back neck and form a bow at the center front, making the only neck trimming.

Sleeveless dresses with hip-length, unlined jackets of the same or harmonizing color have come in for day-time wear. As popular, they are, as the bolero and jackets for evening dresses. These short coats are seen in the very best shops and with the more expensive costumes. You can be safe in making one or two yourself.

Unlined, seven-eighths length coats having mannish collars and patch pockets are favored especially by business girls and women who drive or who plan to go traveling.

V-necks and tie bows of the same material as the dress finish most dresses. Dresses with boat necks have shoulder bows or long strands of pearls to give a lengthwise rather than crosswise effect.

Plaids are used in frocks of all fabrics—fine plaids used abundantly or a few broad ones. Narrow-plaited frillings of the dress fabric trim sleeves and the ends of ties, cascades and godets. Again, three wide box plaids, held hip-deep by stitching, may be the only decoration for a plain tailored skirt. Some cunning suits show knife-plaited skirts with short, unlined jackets of plain color. Some of the younger girls are wearing these plaited skirts with cotton skirts made exactly as the blouses made for boys. These with the short jackets are especially smart.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS TO DECIDE ON REUNION

A special meeting of Colonial Camp, Spanish War Veterans, has been called for Wednesday evening at the armory at 8 o'clock by Judge Joseph M. Fowler, commander of the camp. In order that the members may decide whether to attend the reunion of the 1st N. Y. Vol. Infantry, which will be held in Walton on May 4, or to hold a reunion of only the old 14th Separate Company, known in the Spanish-American War as Company M of this regiment.

May 2 marks the 31st anniversary of the local boys leaving for Camp Black and as the years go on the survivors look forward eagerly to these reunions to go over the days of '98 in the various camps to which they were assigned. It is expected that this year's reunion will be of more interest than ever, so the commander looks for a large attendance on Wednesday night to arrange the details as it seems likely that most of the veterans would prefer a company reunion to a regimental one.

SEEING MEXICANS FIGHT.

It is reported from Nogales that Mexicans are selling for 50 cents front seats on roof-tops to American tourists who want to see a bit of the fighting in Mexico. Seats in the presence of real drama would be cheap at such a price. But even if there be safe conduct across the boundary from Arizona a short distance into the State of Sonora, how much fighting is likely to be witnessed from even the front seats on Nogales house-tops? The sensation-hunting American tourists, after being compelled to wait too long for the show, are likely to complain that they have spent 50 cents in vain. For it is hardly possible that the Mexican Federals and Revolutionists can be induced to move on Nogales and stage a battle in the public square for the especial benefit of American tourists.

A better plan is the one Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford and friends are reported to be about to put into operation—an aerial sight-seeing tour over the battle fronts. If they can hear the cannon's roar above that of their own motor, it should be readily possible for them to approach and cruise around over the contending armies. But here again there is likely to be difficulty. If they fly low enough to see anything distinctly, they may encounter stray bullets or even become the intended mark of indignant sharpshooters. And if they fly high enough to be perfectly safe, the battle movements will be hardly more interesting than the evolutions around a disturbed ant-hill. Anything like a real show would demand low flying, and, though the thrill of danger would add spice to the entertainment, it is pretty safe to predict that Doug and Mary will reluctantly keep at a respectful distance.

LADY ASTOR'S STRUGGLE.

Lady Astor is traveling an uphill road as a crusading prohibitionist in her adopted country, where the prohibition idea received scant support and may never achieve the approval of the majority. She has aroused powerful opposition and in consequence may lose her seat in Parliament. Under the circumstances this is no more than she has good reason to expect. She is charged with trying to "Americanize" England, which suggests the question as to whether the American wife of a British peer has a clear right or is wise to attempt "Americanization" even to the extent of seeking the enactment for Great Britain of only one peculiarly American law. Will American plaudits repay Lady Astor for British frowns, particularly in view of the strict accountability required by American dyes of this lonely advocate of their cause in a foreign land?

Just now Lady Astor is sharply criticized in her native country and is the subject of derisive jest in England as a hypocrite because she recently offered American guests a choice between "soft" drinks and champagne and hospitably served those who eagerly chose the latter. In explanation it has been argued that the customs of English hospitality—long followed in her own Virginia—decree that the guest may have his own choice of food and drink, and that Lady Astor, in offering champagne to her fellow-Americans, was simply following the hospitable customs of both her native State and her adopted country. But this will hardly appease the frowning dyes in America or put an end to derisive smiles in England. Lady Astor, dry crusader in a wet foreign land, plainly has a hard road to travel.

TIME'S WHIRLIGIG.

The radical evolutions of the whirligig of time were perhaps never more marked within the passage of a single generation than is to be found in the changed attitude among leaders of the churches toward one public question. It is indeed a far cry from present Protestant church sentiment to the days when Bishop Potter of New York spoke favorably of the saloon as a needed "poor man's club" and when Henry Ward

Beecher (on December 2, 1882) said in his Brooklyn pulpit:

In America a law with no public sentiment behind it or with no active road will behind it is like a man with no power in it. Now comes the question of the right of the law to determine whether a man shall or shall not drink. On that subject I am in favor of the man not drinking unless you tell him that he shall not drink. John Calvin, if he had been alive nowadays, would have been an advanced man in the community. He was a natural reformer. In lecturing his students on the subject of the Sabbath and telling them of its blessings and good influences, he said to them: "Keep the Lord's day unless men in authority command you to keep it, and then break it as an evidence of your liberty."
 And so, if any man or any community were to say to me, "You shall not drink wine when you think it best," I would say, "I will," with no other reason but to show that I am a free man. If men should undertake to hold a rod over my head and say, "We will expose you to the contempt of the community and to disgrace if you drink wine," I would say, "I do not care for the contempt of the community, but I do care for the community. In a thing which concerns me alone the community shall not touch me." Leave to every man his personal and individual liberty. Diminish his temptation by persuasion, by good reasons and by kindly influence, but not by authority, not by coercion.

FLU AND MENTAL DISORDERS.

The flu has now about passed away, and that as a people we were better prepared to meet the 1928 epidemic than that of 1918, must be admitted, despite the large number who unfortunately did not recover.

However, although we were somewhat better prepared to meet it, many have been a little thoughtless about looking after themselves after an attack of flu.

Some time ago I spoke about the health officer of Montreal reporting that the flu had so weakened the physical and mental state of former inmates of mental hospitals that a number of them, who had been living at their homes and working at former occupations, had to return to the mental hospital for further treatment and care.

Now while this is disheartening to those folks, to their relatives, and to those in charge of these mental hospitals, there is another factor now presenting itself that calls for the earnest care and thought of everybody.

And that is that influenza has been causing many normal people to become patients in our mental hospitals. Sir George Savage has been quoted as having considered influenza as most likely of all infectious diseases to be followed by mental disorder.

Dr. T. C. Graves tells us that there are two main groups in which influenza was known to be a factor in the causation of the mental illness. The first group consisted of those cases of influenza which were followed immediately by the mental condition. The second group is where there is an interval between the influenza infection and the development of the mental disorder, in which the patient will be in a low or poor state of health for some time after the influenza, before the mental trouble ensues. Dr. Graves is most emphatic in urging that patient and doctor look most carefully for infections of ears, tonsils and sinuses.

It would appear that chronic infection of ears, tonsils, sinuses, all in the head you'll remember, are made more severe and active by the influenza, and mental disturbance develops.

Now the point is that just as we are learning how to meet influenza when it comes, by immediately going to bed and giving the heart its best chance to pull us through, so also should we learn how to protect ourselves after influenza.

First, by remaining quietly at home, or taking things very easily for days, even weeks, after the attack is over. It may even mean a month or two of holidays.

Second, by seeing that teeth, tonsils, sinuses, and ears are free from any chronic infection.

SHOKAN.

Shokan, April 1.—T. E. Spencer and his friend, Mr. Neal, spent a few days at their bungalow here last week. This property is just above Golden Van Benschoten's house on the north Boulevard. Golden's place—as some former residents may not know—is a part of the old De Witt C. Davis farm, and north of the Greenway place now occupied by Frank Barringer.

Burtess Wheat is now employed at Haver's Ford service station as head mechanic. Wheat is operating the Tonche Mountain filling station same as last year.

Judge David Windrum and Charles Schipp attended the automobile accident case held in Kingston last week, as witnesses. This was the accident that took place at Lyons garage, where a number of mishaps have occurred. The turn of it is not difficult to navigate, at a reasonable rate of speed, the hazard there being due to the fact that the road is a straightaway for nearly a mile, a fact which tempts motorists to "hit 'er up," a little too much.

George Siskler has been helping Benjamin Van Steenburgh put new roof on his barn on DuBois road.

Archie Bogart of Cold Brook has purchased a Chevrolet coach of Chester Lyons.

An entomologist from the state conservation commission was in town recently for the purpose of inspecting the trees on the city's reservation. Last year this forestry expert found several gooseberry and currant bushes, which shrubs help spread the rust so deadly to the pine tree. The city's forestry crew, by the way, is trimming up the fine young pines in the grove west of the waste channel, on the site of old Browns Station. Jerry Phillips, with his team, draws the trimmings away for disposal by burning.

Easter week visitors in town included Mrs. Wallace McDowell and Mrs. Charles Price, both of Philadelphia, who came to visit their husbands. Both ladies are quite well known here, having spent a considerable time in the village last summer.

Fred Weeks, a former Shokan boy, who is making good in the automobile business in Kingston, made a business call here Thursday afternoon.

Clarence Phillips and Henry Fischback butchered five pigs for Winchell's store last Tuesday.

The Pitcairn mansion, now under construction on the east end of Big Tonche Mountain, shows up from the Boulevard for all the world like Lake Mohonk or some classy chateau along the Hudson. The house, which is being built for Raymond Pitcairn, the Philadelphia plate glass and paint magnate, will be circular in form and will cover a large plot of ground. Oregon, supplied by a Kingston dealer, is being used throughout the building.

Leopold Scholtz, the sculptor, is now engaged in fashioning a seven-foot statue of George Washington. Mr. Scholtz completed a bust of the first president some time ago.

Ray Cudney and Jim Rutherford with their teams, are working on the upper Boiceville road. This road, perhaps the oldest in the town, has been in bad condition all spring, and a number of vehicles have come to grief, in one spot or another, because of the heavy mud. Recently, while John McKelvey was drawing a load of fertilizer up the hill near Schoeniesel's, his farm wagon came apart in several places at once, so great was the strain on it. That was indeed hard luck for "Hot John."

It was remarked the other day by some one, that only three persons who went to school in the old Olive-Harley schoolhouse in Olive Branch are now living in Shokan or the near vicinity. These three are Newton Smith of this place; Lincoln Smith, a brother of Newton's and a resident of Ashokan, and Elwyn Winchell, the veteran storekeeper. The schoolhouse, as many Freeman readers will recall, was located next to the North house, and the eastern boundary of the school yard was on the imaginary line dividing the towns of Hurley and Olive. A number of well known people, including former Senator Charles Walton and his sister, Kate, of the high school faculty, received their early schooling at this classroom front of learning. There was also a school in back of Temple's Pond, as well as the little red building at what is now Ashokan, not far from the present structure.

Bodell & Every are getting out the timber from the Elva Bogart woods on the mountain. The trees are saved at John Warren's mill and then drawn to the U. & D. yard in the lower village.

garet Windrum, enjoyed an Easter week motor trip to Washington, D. C.

Mrs. E. Merrilow, who has been spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Giles, has returned to the home of her son, Orrin Merrilow, in Krumville.

Bailey's stock farm has invested in one of the new one and one-half ton Chevrolet trucks.

Ephraim Weeks bought a horse of Elmer Palen last Wednesday. Mr. Weeks for more than half a century has been driving good horses, both on and off the farm, and is considered one of the best judges of horseflesh in the county, barring none. Elmer may know more about selling horses than "Eph" does, but it is said the latter can give the veteran dealer a few pointers on breaking colts and instructing the more mature animals in practical driving.

Lora Giles spent Easter week with friends in the metropolis. Miss Giles motored down with her uncle, Fred Green, in the latter's car.

Assessors Every Shutter and DuBois have commenced their spring work of viewing property.

Mrs. H. C. Elmendorf, the enterprising chicken hatchery proprietor, has done a lot of successful custom hatching this season. Lewis Thiel, of Main street, is one of Mrs. Elmendorf's best customers, he having brought over a thousand eggs to the incubators this season.

Mrs. C. A. Winchell and daughter, Alva, motored to North Pelham last Wednesday, to visit friends in that suburb and New York city.

Harry Markle of New Haven, Conn., and family spent the week end with Mr. Markle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Markle, Sr.

Mrs. Gertrude Schoeniesel and daughter, who have as their summer home the Thomas Feeny place at Boiceville, visited their farm last week.

A quiet wedding took place in Olive on Saturday, April 1, 1848, when Martin J. Hyatt and Mary Winchell were united in marriage by Squire J. B. Davis. On the following Tuesday the annual town meeting was held, resulting in the following elections: Thomas Hill, supervisor; Underwood, clerk; J. B. Davis, justice of peace; A. J. Crispell, assessor; and B. Brown, commissioner of highways. And on the 12th of April, 1848, a big party was held at Abram Bloom's home, at which a young damsel, named Hester, swooned away, as ladies had a way of doing in those good old hoop-skirt days. The Blooms were a fine old family, whose home along the banks of the Esopus was noted for its hospitality, while a little farther to the south were the Brodheads, also numbered among the "salt of the earth" in ante-bellum days.

The Rev. J. B. Steketee, the Reformed synodical missionary, has been filling the local pulpit on those Sundays when no candidate appeared to preach.

L. B. Watrous, the electrical contractor, of Kingston, was a Thursday visitor in town. Mr. Watrous and his partner made the fourteen miles from Kingston in twenty minutes, which is going some even for an electric expert.

Frank Davis, Tom Hansen and Grover Christiansa of the lower part of the town are assisting Charles Price, boss carpenter on the Pitcairn job. In addition to the local men there are six carpenters who come up from Kingston every day to work on the big house.

Daniel Sampson of the Heights section has dug a cess pool as part of the modern plumbing system which he is installing in the old homestead. Earl Brandage, of Sampson's next door neighbor, is building a new brooder house near his barn on the former David Freeman place.

Modish Skirts Are A Trifle Longer

Easter Parade Shows the More Fashionable Parades Were Dresses That Came an Inch or Two Below the Knee.

New York, April 1 (AP)—The consensus of fashion experts who watched Easter parades is that modish skirts are just a trifle longer.

Following a recent decree from Paris most of the more fashionable parades along Fifth avenue yesterday wore dresses that came an inch or two below the knee. A few were emphatically longer. However, there also were many that were ultra-short.

Shoes were so variegated that often they struck the eye before the other components of the costume. Purple, green, pink, beige and steel blue suedes were the rule. Lavender kid and polka-dotted footwear proved startling. Reptile skins also were popular.

Most of the women had costumes in which black, relieved by liberal dashes of white, predominated. All shades of brown and steel blue found favor. Loosely woven tweed ensembles in brown and heather mixtures were among the smartest outfits.

Hats took a distinct step toward the novel. Their variety of shape and their brilliant colors, ranging from scarlet to a greenish-yellow called absinthie, immediately caught the eye. Modish skull caps, showing many a wisp of hair, were popular.

Heavy gold and silver chains and clanking bracelets were plentiful. The men also made quite a showing. More than ever before there were high silk toppers, striped trousers, cutaway coats, grey gloves, grey vests, black and white ties and stiff shirts. Snappy snake-wood canes were everywhere in evidence.

Poultry Prepare For World Congress At London In 1930

F. C. Elford, Ottawa (inset), president of the World's Poultry Science Association. The White Leghorn cockerel (above) and the White Plymouth Rock hen (below) are types of American poultry to be exhibited at the fourth congress.

(By Frank L. Weller, Associated Press Farm Editor)

Washington, April 1 (AP)—The fourth World's Poultry congress at London in July of next year will be attended by hundreds of American poultrymen prominent in the Ottawa congress last year.

American interests are preparing now for the trip that will take abroad the finest poultry the United States can produce. The time intervening is sufficient to breed up stock and give the American industry opportunity to make scientific selection of show ring fowls.

The congress is being organized by the English ministry of agriculture and fisheries in conjunction with the board of agriculture for Scotland and the ministry of agriculture for northern Ireland.

Every branch of the poultry industry in the United States will be represented. It is expected that the federal department of agriculture, the state departments and colleges of agriculture, state experiment stations and other institutions will be represented.

There will be national educational exhibits from practically all countries participating. The United States probably will have a comprehensive exhibit portraying the more important features of the billion dollar poultry industry in this country.

As at Ottawa, the American exhibit is expected to begin with a picture showing Capt. John Smith bringing the first European fowls into the country in the seventeenth century and continue a portrayal of the evolution that since 1520 has kept the poultry population increasing faster than the human population.

In 1840, when the first government census of the industry was made, the value of poultry was set at $12,176,170. In 1926 American poultry was valued at $1,263,707,000. Not only have poultry numbers increased, but hens now lay more and better eggs. The hatched chicks are larger and healthier. In 1854 a hen did a good year's work if she laid 80 eggs. Today whole flocks of laying hens average 200 eggs annually per hen.

Among the American exhibits will be a motion picture of the chick industry from the time when hens were depended upon to hatch young chickens to the present age when incubators annually hatch more than 899,000,000 chicks.

The big business man had died and gone to—well not to heaven. But hardly had he settled down for a nice long smoke when a hearty hand slapped him on the back, and into his ear boomed the voice of a persistent salesman who had pestered him much on earth.

"Well, Mr. Smith," chortled the salesman, "I'm here for the appointment."

"What appointment?"

"Why, don't you remember?" the salesman went on. "Every time I came into your office you told me you'd see me here!"

Gains Ten Pounds And New Health By Using Nu-Erb

East Kingston Bus Operator Is High In Praise of The Famous Herbal Compound.

"For the past four or five years, I have been in poor health because of stomach and kidney troubles and it is because the Nu-Erb has entirely overcome these troubles that I recommend it to others," said Mr. Harry Smith, R. F. D. No. 4, East Kingston, N. Y., who operates a bus line in that section.

"When I started using this medicine I was having no end of trouble because of severe attacks of indigestion and heartburn after every meal, bite of sour, undigested food came up in my throat like vinegar and although I tried everything I ever heard of, I could get nothing that actually relieved this condition. My kidneys were in a weakened condition causing a continual pain across my back and they disturbed me so often at night that it was seldom I got a good night's rest."

"This is the condition I was in when I started using Nu-Erb about a month ago, but I am pleased to say that it has entirely overcome the indigestion, sourness and all that pain and distress in my stomach. It has strengthened my kidneys so that the pains have left my back and for the first time in years I can sleep the whole night through without being disturbed. It has given me a splendid appetite and as a result of this I have gained ten pounds in weight and I am feeling much stronger and better in every way than for any time that I can remember."

Nu-Erb is the ideal system tonic and regulator. It corrects digestive disorders, strengthens weak kidneys, quiets the nerves, rouses a lazy liver to full action, relieves constipation and puts a stop to headaches, dizziness, biliousness, rheumatism and neuritis.

McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall St., is headquarters in Kingston for Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

Hard to Shake Belief

in Good and Bad Luck

It is hard to overcome such inbred myths as the "thirteen" superstition. To any reasonable person you can demonstrate in two minutes that there is nothing in it. But these beliefs in good and bad luck are not kept going by people capable of reason. They are the beliefs of the unthinking mass with whom it is useless to argue.

Parnell, the famous Irish statesman, was one of the many prominent politicians who have been afraid of 13. His mother was responsible for it. Yet she was a woman of character and intellect. One day she was getting into a train at Dublin when she noticed the number of the coach was 39. "I won't go in that," she declared flatly. "It's unlucky." The lord mayor, who was seeing her off, asked why. "Because of multiple of 13," she said, and climbed into another carriage—a third-class one, although she had a first-class ticket. There was no other first-class coach but the "unlucky" one.

Character Molded by

Example of Parents

Do you ever wonder what you would have been if your father and mother had been different? I often do.

My own father and mother lived what they tried to teach their two children; my sister and myself. To have so consistent an example of absolute integrity would be of incalculable worth to any child; I never can sufficiently express my debt of gratitude to them.

My father was a "natural born" scientist, an indefatigable searcher for the relation between cause and effect. It was he that taught me to ask the why of everything; to want to know and to understand things.

Both my father and my mother judged persons by the essentials of character; such things as honesty, kindness, uprightness; by what persons were—not by how much money they had or how much show they could make.—Mary B. Mallett in the American Magazine.

Fall
The late Chauncey M. Depew was fond of telling stories on himself. On one of his last birthdays, which had become occasions of ceremony, he told this one:

"I feel as Methuselah must have when one of the beauties of his court congratulated him on his nine hundred sixtieth birthday saying, 'You don't look a day over 800.'"

This also on himself:

"One day I was stopped in the street by a lady who asked if her aged father might come in and visit me. 'He is nearly as old as you,' she said. 'He is feeble-minded, but I know he would enjoy talking to you.'"

Kingston Pupil Wins Essay Prize

Soss H. Melik, eighth grade, No. 2 School, Kingston, is the winner of one of the state prizes in the national "Our Presidents Contest" conducted by Current Events, the national school paper. Four grand national prizes—$50, $25, $10, and $5—were awarded. In addition, prizes were awarded for each state. The District of Columbia, and the territories and possessions of the United States. Nearly 1,000 pupils took part in the contest for the more than 150 cash prizes.

The contestants were required to name pictures of all the Presidents from 1789 to 1929, and to state the period that each served as President. Each contestant was also required to write an essay on the subject, "Why I Think the Thirty-first President Will Make a Good President."

The prize winning essay by Soss E. Melik follows:

Herbert Hoover

To a few it is given while still on the threshold of life, to achieve the success which comes ordinarily—if it comes at all—only after maturity and experience. Yet this is what Herbert Hoover has accomplished, and to my estimation there should be no doubt in the minds of the American people as to the success of our next administration in the Presidential policies.

First of all Hoover is the ideal man for that particular position because he is an engineer of superb quality and his technique is flawless and knows no bounds. He is a business man of purely 100 per cent and as a mere factor is never afraid to challenge the largest of all modern tasks. This point can be easily proved by the way he handled flood relief both in our own U. S. A., and in Europe. But Hoover's objective is not flood relief, but flood prevention. He is looking for the future of the Americans, and is patiently waiting to grasp an open opportunity towards success and prosperity at the same time keeping in mind the welfare of the American family.

This true American is not simply a "countryman" but a patriot; not merely a "personality" but a man whose such he has not had a "career" but a life.

NEW PALM

The fourth quarterly conference of the Methodist Church was held recently under the presidency of the district superintendent, the Rev. J. J. Henry. The management of Colonial Hall is negotiating for the installation of a genuine marble floor to be installed in the near future.

With the cooperation of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation and local electricians some new lights have been installed in the Reformed Church. There is a flood light for the choir loft. A bank of lights behind the pulpit illuminates that place by indirect means and does away with the former direct lighting that was hard on the eyes. Plans are now under way to install new lights in the auditorium as soon as the consistory approves of the plans.

Dentist Identified Missing Student

South Amherst, Mass., April 1 (AP).—Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. St. John Smith, and a small group of relatives were gathered at the family summer home here today to hear the last rites spoken for Frances St. John Smith, Smith College student who dropped out of sight 14 months ago and whose body was found in the Connecticut River late last week.

The funeral service for the girl whose disappearance caused an international search was to be strictly private.

Miss Smith's body was positively identified Saturday by Dr. Carlston W. Wood of Pelham, N. Y., her former dentist. An autopsy was performed by Dr. Frederick D. Jones, medical examiner, who gave the cause of death as "drowning, sustained under circumstances undetermined."

BERING SEA ISLE HINTS OLD RACE

Indications of Ancient Civilization Found.

Fairbanks, Alaska.—New evidence of an ancient race of Eskimos has been uncovered on St. Lawrence Island in Bering sea by Otto W. Gelat of the Alaska College at Fairbanks.

Gelat, who is spending a year in explorations on the island, has forwarded to the college several stone axes which he believes were made by a race of cave dwellers centuries ago. Several old mounds will be investigated by Gelat before he leaves.

The discoveries are similar to those made last summer by Harry B. Collins of the Smithsonian Institution. Collins found on Bering sea islands old villages and other indications of a civilization more prehistoric than that of present day natives. Still other evidences of former days were uncovered during the summer by the Stoll-McCracken expedition of the American Museum of Natural History.

Stone implements found by Gelat were uncovered where there had been a dirt slide on the north shore of St. Lawrence Island. He said the axes reminded him of those used by prehistoric people in upper Bavaria, Germany. He added that none of the island Eskimos had seen anything like them, nor did they know what they were.

"Perhaps the age of these axes corresponds with the age of the human bodies excavated by Mr. Collins on Peck Island," Gelat said. "These bodies were found several feet below sea level. Some there is a funnel-shaped mass of rock with cavities opening directly above this mass and there are several others near the site. I have advanced the theory that the makers of the axes perhaps lived in them and were real cave men."

Just a Detail

In battle the whole of the French Infantry had been routed, all the artillery, consisting of the pieces of cannon, and all the baggage had been abandoned, the English army considered the battle ended, when the duke stopped the forward movement of the troops and said: "The battle is not yet won. There is a corps of French cavalry still intact, and they thereupon disposed of them."

Vigo's Bell

VIGO bell! Have you ever heard the story of Francisco Vigo's bell? Vigo of Old Vincennes and New Orleans and many places up and down the river; Vigo, for whom a country in Indiana is named. Some day, if you are in Terre Haute you may hear the golden note of Old Vigo's bell and if you ever do, stand for a moment with uncovered head; you will feel the better for it. This is the story of Vigo and his bell.

Vigo was a Spaniard. He came to America via Cuba. The Revolutionary war found him a trader on the Mississippi. He talked Spanish, French and English and knew quite a bit about the Indians. He was not friendly to the English. They were "buying hair," the fresh, red scalps of the settlers, men, women and children—and Vigo didn't think well of the trade.

George Rogers Clark and his 170 men, "Long Knives," they were called by the Indians, came into the valley and captured Kaskaskia, below St. Louis, farthest outpost of the British, who "sold about everything between the Alleghenies and Mississippi. All west of that river belonged to Spain.

When George Rogers Clark and his men took over Kaskaskia they were threadbare. The long march overland had worn out their clothes and shoes. Gunpowder and food was about gone. They were in distress. Vigo, the trader, came to their relief.

Vigo outfitted them; gave them everything he had. Then he went to Vincennes to spy out the situation there. Vincennes must be taken or Kaskaskia would surely fall again to the British. Vigo the trader, a spy for sure, went to the English fort and offered wares for sale.

Vigo was arrested. The English "got ready to shoot him. But he had friends among the French in Vincennes. They swore that he was known to them, an honest trader who regularly trafficked with them and the Indians, and he was released.

But once released Vigo carried the information he had with all speed to Clark. Then a daring expedition set out, an expedition that for sacrifice and courage has seldom been equaled in history. Vincennes fell and the British lost a vast domain.

Vigo? Oh, yes. This was back in the latter years of the Revolutionary war. George Rogers Clark and his men had consumed everything Vigo possessed. And Vigo, once prosperous, was broke. Clark gave him an order on the United States treasury for $1000. It was to pay him for his goods. Was Vigo paid? No.

Poor old Vigo was wheeled to a pauper's grave in 1836. In his latter years men had considered him deaf. His mind was turned, they said, by worry over the money he never could get. Vigo used to talk of his "dollars" that were coming—some day. But in his parlors he called them "doleurs." Doleurs in French means grief and pain. So people who did not understand, made a cruel pun of the old man's sorrow—"Vigo's doleurs" became a joke.

When Vigo died, fifty-seven years after he had pauperized himself to help George Rogers Clark and George Washington and his adopted land, his executors, who examined his "estate" realized that he had had a strange and abiding faith. He had always said, proudly, "Some day the government will pay." And in his will he left a bequest.

It was this—that when the government finally paid his "doleurs" a fine bell was to be bought. The bell was to be presented to the county of Vigo, state of Indiana. The bell was to be placed in the belfry of the courthouse in Terre Haute. And when this was done, it should be rung loudly to proclaim that Old Vigo was right—the government paid its debts!

Yes, the government paid. It paid in 1875 but poor old Vigo had been dead then for thirty-nine years. The government had paid ninety-six years after establishing the indebtedness. But it paid, as Vigo said it would. If you ever hear Vigo's bell ring in Terre Haute, have your head a moment. You will feel better for doing this small homage to Vigo.

Old Envelopes That Have Financial Value

No envelope that passed through the mails, with or without adhesive stamps, in any year before 1870, should under any circumstances be torn or otherwise mutilated. If one has any hopes of realizing adequate return from the sale of old postal symbols or insignia, or the older issues of adhesive stamps, to collectors or dealers, in dozens of instances owners of such envelopes have virtually ruined valuable postal rarities that would have brought handsome prices by mutilating envelopes containing dates and markings that would have established beyond question the authenticity of early issues, or private labels before the introduction of gummed adhesive labels. It is heedlessness of this sort, however, that has reduced the number of available rarities and increased the value of those that have survived.—Montreal Family Herald.

Printed Fabrics for Spring Wear

Flowery Materials Offered in Novelties of Conventional Type.

The sheer stuffs, voile and chiffon, are printed with designs in extreme novelties of the conventional type. In this group of materials, which a fashion correspondent in the New York Times, are shown patterns by the Japanese artist Foujita, who had a wide vogue last summer for his textile prints. The most fascinating are those using designs of picturesque descriptive names of flowers, feathers, fans and a combination of flowers and butterflies. They are distinctly Japanese in type, finely etched and delicate. They are printed on both rayon and tulle, with the idea of the two fabrics being combined in ensembles.

A pattern that suggests the flowery freshness of spring is made of a single bouquet with slender green stems. This is printed on rayon and tulle, in pastel shades on white or faintly tinted backgrounds. Sweet peas, in natural form and colors, are printed in separate designs as though scattered over a white or light ground.

The extreme of the mode in fabrics is a printed moire, which came prominently into vogue last season for service in sun and dampness. This is shown in up-to-the-minute prints in costumes of both French and American authorship. The Jacquard patterns are used for street dress and general wear, and are generally in demand for the beach and sports. The latest version in printed moire is a series of florals, large single blossoms and clusters in both the natural and conventional arrangement and colors on pastel or slightly tinted clear grounds.

A sun-flower pattern on moire is shown in a bathing ensemble and again in an evening gown for the resorts to be worn with a coat of transparent velvet. An ensemble in green and white moire combined with white crepe displays a graceful pattern of long, slender feathers. Some droll, gaudy effects are printed in vivid reds, blues and yellows.

The polka dot in fancy arrangements is shown on tulle and voile, some designs of unusual charm having been achieved with very small dots massed between broken stripes in three colors.

A pretty frock for wear in the warmer regions is of pussy willow. It will be seen in other sections of the country in the late spring and early summer. The skirt of this outfit has five-petaled flowers.

Normal Waistline Noted on Spring Evening Gown

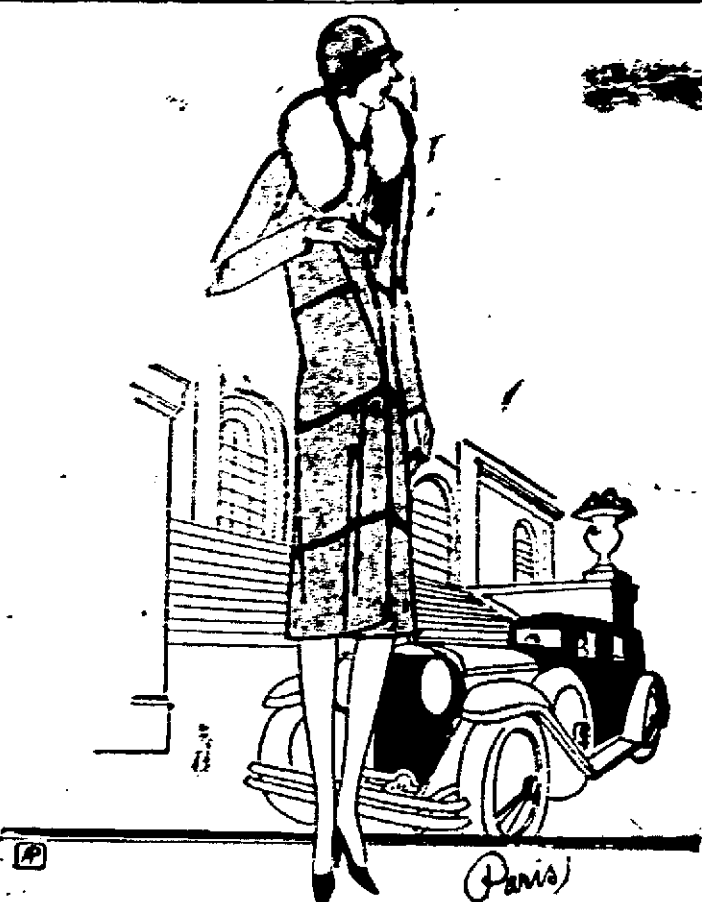

The tricky little tailored belts so often seen on evening dresses are set at the top of the hips. The tendency is natural to mark the waistline in other instances a little high, which means a normal waistline. Do you remember a few years ago when the flapper in one of her moods tied something around her waist so closely that she actually indented the lines of her figure at that point? That is perhaps the nearest to the natural waistline that has been seen until the spring showings; the skirt flows away in rippling fullness below the hip line.

New Bags of Alligator Among Spring Novelties

Designers are vying with each other to produce hand bags of greater originality than ever before, and as a consequence the windows of many of the large city shops are as enchanting for the window shopper as for the buyer of more serious intent. To the fore in popularity and good taste are the new bags of alligator, lined with kidskin, which are worn with alligator sports oxfords.

Not Altogether a Joke

Everyone must have noticed how generally "jokes" refer to women lapsing on husbands. This is criticism of women disguised as humor: "jokes" always represent current public opinion.—E. W. Howes Monthly.

The Silk Coat Makes a Strong Appeal this Spring

New York.—The silk coat is established as a spring favorite whether it be black or navy. Black appears to have more distinction for afternoons when women cling to the thoroughly sane practice of having one good-looking black frock in their wardrobe even though living in a color-mad age.

The entrance of the silk coat really adds zest to the usual interest in separate coats, without which no spring arrives nor any spring is possible.

The trick of making a coat appear to be a part of the ensemble of at least one costume is a good one to learn so that it may be put into practice. The printed summer coat worn with either a printed or plain

A Pleasing Model.

6403. Fitted waist portions are here joined to a circular skirt that flares gracefully between panel insets formed with points at the top. The V neck is outlined by a shaped yoke band. The sleeve is the popular fitted model. Collar dotted silk crepe was chosen in this instance, with facings on belt and neck of satin. This is a good style for cotton prints, or printed linen or pique.

The pattern is cut in 5 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. To make the dress in a 38 inch size will require 4 1/2 yards of 40 inch material. For yoke bands and belt of contrasting material 1/2 yard 40 inches wide is required. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fullness extended is 3 1/2 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

MAKE soap and water do more work. Save from 1/4 to 1/2 the amount of soap ordinarily used. Have soft water. Have clean dishes. How? Use Melo. A wonderful cleanser because it makes hard water soft.

Soap and hard water form scum. Soap and soft water do not. You can't clean dishes in hard, scummy water. You can't cut grease when water is hard. Soften hard water with Melo. It makes soap much more effective. It saves your hands too. Get it at your grocer's.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 1 (AP).—Faced with the prospect of a congressional investigation into stock speculation and higher federal reserve rediscount rates, the stock market today experienced a sharp reaction, which carried prices of issues down 2 to 2 1/2 points. A rally, which developed just before midday, was checked when the call money rate was advanced from 10 to 12 per cent.

Fears that general business would be hurt by recent developments in credit and market conditions inspired much of the liquidation. Trade news, however, continued favorable.

No important issues broke through the low levels established in last Tuesday's drastic reaction.

We do not wish to be impertinent, but we do ask in all seriousness whose roof is over your head? If it be some other fellow's, may we not be permitted to point out to you how it might just as well be your own roof? Comforters Win With Four Men

The Comforters team defeated the Albany Avenue quintet, 48 to 24, in a Saturday School League game at the Y. M. C. A. court Saturday night. There was a second game to be played between Port Ewen and the Congregational squad but Port Ewen failed to keep their date on the schedule.

The Comforters were playing under a handicap having only four men in their line-up. However they were too much for the Albany Avenue aggregation, because they took the lead in the early part of the game and maintained it throughout. The score at half time was 26-16 in the Comforters' favor. In the second half Albany Avenue made a good bid for the tilt. They scored from all angles of the court and they more than doubled their tally in this session. Clarke, one of Kingston High School's guards, played a wonderful floor game and scored five times from scrimmage for a total of ten points. On the other hand Roosa and Williams did some splendid work for the Comforters each tallying nine times from scrimmage. Throughout the game neither team scored from the foul line.

Chandler's Bill For This Week

The Chandler's face two tough games this week, both of which will be played at the Y. M. C. A. court. Tuesday night they will take on the Port Ewen Knights of Pythias team in the second game of a trio and Thursday night are slated to meet the Kingston High School varsity.

Tuesday's game is expected to be a tough one for the Chandler's. The Knights will use every tactic they know concerning the game in order to save their scalp, which the Chandler's have already started to remove. The Port Eweners felt victims to the "Y" representatives at Pythian Hall, across the creek, last week. The score of this game was 24-22.

Thursday night the Chandler's will have to be in very good playing form in order to show up in convincing style against the High School varsity. The school team won the championship of the DUSO League this year and is composed of an aggregation that is capable of making trouble for any of the fast stepping quintets around these parts.

Previous to the Chandler-Varsity game, the Kingston High School Seconds will cast lot with the much heralded Y's Men. This setto promises to be as interesting as the feature of the evening.

CINTONS TAKE MEASURE OF WALDEN QUINTET

Three deuces by Boyce, Ballard and Hyatt, raising the Clinton Avenue M. E. team's standing from 42 to 48 in the last two minutes of play, gave the Kingston team a victory by the margin mentioned when they met the Walden basketball team at that place Saturday night. Walden, whose tally was 41 when the M. E. team had 42 was able to score but one point while the Kingston team rang up the three two-pointers.

SHAMROCKS PLAY AT CATSKILL TONIGHT

The fast stepping Shamrocks are billed to play the Crescent at Catskill tonight. This will be the fourth meeting of the clubs and is expected to be an interesting tilt. Catskill now had the edge on Cats, which the Shamrocks figure on diminishing to eight.

WITH THE BALL CLUBS

Philadelphia—Returning from Florida where for the last five weeks he had watched the Philadelphia Athletics prepare for the season's league race, Manager Connie Mack today was far from optimistic over the baseball outlook.

He said he was disappointed, dismayed and somewhat disgusted with his club.

"The individual work of each man hasn't been what it should be," Mack said. "They haven't played the kind of ball they can play. I'm not prepared to say what the trouble is, but I'm certain we have to get them together and going before the season opens or we will be up against it."

San Antonio—It begins to look as though the flux which trailed the Pittsburgh Pirates through the National League race last season is determined to follow the Bucs this year. Injuries which put the team out of the running in 1928 are showing up again, Ray Kremer being the latest to join the hospital list. An old leg ailment has reappeared. Pie Traynor's hip was so bad he was kept off the field yesterday.

West Palm Beach, Fla.—The Browns collaborated with the Weather yesterday to make it a perfect Easter by closing their spring season at West Palm Beach with a regular season-book ninth-inning win from the Brooklyn Dodgers, 2 to 1, after the Dodgers had a 1 to 0 shutout in the last for eight and a half innings.

Beaumont, Texas—Cub pitchers seem to have snapped out of their spring lethargy. Blake and Bush shut out the Kansas City Blues, 2 to 0, Saturday and two rookie hurlers, Lautenbacher and Horne, duplicated the feat yesterday, the Cubs winning, 4 to 0.

Fort Worth, Texas—Ted Lyons, ace of American League hurlers in 1927, and Hal McKinn, a rookie hurler, have provided some sunshine for Manager "Lena" Blackburne, who has his worries in whipping a winning White Sox team today. Lyons and McKinn yesterday held the clouting Giants to two hits in six innings. Thomas and Adkins relieved them and were bumped for nine runs, and the Giants won, 9 to 2.

New Orleans—Whether the renovated Cleveland Indians amount to much in big time baseball will be indicated here this week in the first practice games of the training season with major league ball clubs. The Redskins have been beating local practice competition with great regularity but Tuesday the New York Yankees came to town.

Washington—Rumors that refuse to be laid continue about the Tampa, Fla., training camp of the Washington Nationals that Joe Cronin is to break into the club's infield. There is doubt whether Bluege is to be shifted to second from short to make a place for Cronin or whether Joe is to try second himself, but it seems certain that he will not stay on the bench if he continues to hit and field at his present pace.

Pensacola, Fla.—Miller Huggins, the master mind of the Yankees, has decided to make another change in his infield. Lyn Lary, expensive California recruit, who lost out to Durocher in the contest for the shortstop job, will get a chance at Mark Koenig's third base post.

West Palm Beach, Fla.—The Robins may have a complete roster able to get into action soon if they continue recovering from their injuries at the present rate. Jim Elliott was in uniform here yesterday for the first time since he pulled a knee tendon ten days ago and Captain Glenn Wright is nearly ready to go back to work.

Shreveport, La.—Manager McGraw has called for a new deal in his two teams of Giants who are hampering their way to New York. Eddie Roush, Chick Fullis and Curly Ogden will join the first squad here for today's game while Veltman goes to the second team.

LOCAL VOLLEY BALLERS SCALP ALBANY TEAM

The local Y. M. C. A. volley ball team took the Albany players into camp Saturday at the local court by trimming the upstarts in four out of five games. Kingston's winning scores were 15-7, 15-10, 15-11 and 15-12. The locals lost the third game, 14-16.

Kingston's win proves that the local volley ball team is getting into shape for entry into the district championship tournament which will be held at Schenectady on April 13. Negotiations have not been made as yet concerning Kingston's entry, but likely will be.

Men who represented the local "Y" on Saturday and who likely will go to the tourney, are Dolson, Murray, Craig, Winne, Brown, Shufeldt, Young, Scott, Hendrickson and Morrissey. After Saturday's game the Kingston and Albany men enjoyed a luncheon prepared by Mrs. Winne and served at the "Y."

Joie Carpino In First Bout

Although he admits that Captain E. C. Lawson has given him a tough assignment for his first National Guard ring appearance at the local armory next Friday night, Joie Carpino, brother of the well-known Johnnie, fears naught from the flashy Frankie Olsen, who beat Frenchy Duwig at the last card of bouts held here.

Joie is scheduled for six rounds with Olsen, and plans on giving the Coast Guard boy a hard fight. Carpino is out to trim him and will do all in his power to take his first fight as a National Guardsman. The Kingston boy is training hard for the setto and already is in very good shape. His sparring partner is his hard hitting brother, whom Joie is able to handle with marked skill. Joie is a two-fisted fighter, which is figured to be a big factor in helping him to scalp Olsen.

Olsen is going "great guns" around New York and expects little trouble from the Kingston newcomer to the soldier ranks. He figures him an easier "shot" than Frenchy Duwig. It is said, so the coast guardsman will enter the ring with a strong confident feeling, no doubt.

Carpino's rosters are expected to be out in large numbers for the night. In fact the calibre of the card will pack the armory to capacity. It is forecast. With this thought in mind the management advises all who desire reserved seats to order them early. This can be done by calling the armory.

Ulster County Gun Club Scores

A number of shooters without much experience at the traps have suggested that they would like some practice.

If such persons will notify Superintendent S. Martin, president of the Ulster County Gun Club, or Roswell Coles, field captain, arrangements will be made to hold a school of instruction in the early evenings other than Saturdays.

Some of the older shooters have offered to be at the grounds at such times and give the benefit of their knowledge and experience.

Ulster County Gun Club scores for March 30:

Wheeler	23
Browning	22
Doty	21
Cauntley	21
Longendyke	20
Coles	20

Browning won the weekly prize, also a leg on E. Winter's Sons prize. L. S. Winne & Co. have presented the club with a hand made landing net to be won by the member having actual high score the greatest number of times during April.

Y'S MEN TRIMMED SAUGERTIES TEAM

After doing no more than holding their own in the first half of their game with the Community Five at Saugerties Saturday night, the Y's Men avenged a former defeat by stepping to the front in the last session and scoring a 35-25 victory over their fast stepping opponents. Chet Dolson, who has been very active in basketball this year, displayed that he is as capable as ever by rolling up the highest individual score of the game, 13 points.

Plans to reorganise the old Michigan-Ontario league have been abandoned for the present.

Charley Berry, Red Sox catcher, has signed to coach football at Groves City college two more years.

Newark has 41 players, among them nine outsiders. Four of the nine outsiders will be used in trades.

The Cardinals will have a fast man in reserve in Fred Haney, bought from Indianapolis. Haney stole 43 bases in the Association.

The latest idea is that Babe Ruth's legs are going bad. This is a drawback. It will take longer to round the bases 30 times a year in a wheel-chair.

Public Opinion
That there are men in all countries who get their living by war and by keeping up the quarrels of nations is as shocking as it is true; but when those who are concerned in the government of a country make it a study to sow discord and cultivate prejudices between nations it becomes the more reprehensible.—Thomas Paine.

Great Asset to Washingtons

THAT good goods come in small packages is exemplified by Muddy Ruel, attorney at law and 145-pound catcher of the Washingtons. Muddy, who has been working in the American league for eleven seasons and has been catching 100 or more games a season for nine years. Never has Ruel weighed more than 150 pounds while at times his weight has gone below the 140 mark. Nevertheless, he has gone in behind the plate day after day and caught all styles of pitchers, including Walter Johnson, the speed king; Stanley Coveleski and other spitters; Firpo Marberry, another hurler with terrific speed; Carl Mays, the famous submarine pitcher, and a bunch of rookies whose wildness made them anything but easy to handle.

In fact, the day he bopped in as a major league catcher with the Browns when only a boy, he was offered upon to team up with Grover Lowdermilk, then whom there was some wonder.

"No one knew how much speed Lowdermilk ever had," comments Ruel. "He never really threw as hard a ball as he could because of his lack of control. He knew he was wild and feared that if he put everything on the ball that he was capable of being hit some better. So he was content to throw a half-speed ball."

"That reminds me that I was catching Carl Mays the day he threw the ball that resulted in Ray Chapman's death. Ray was a great boy. Everyone liked him. I yelled at him, but it was too late. He never had a chance to dodge."

"Marberry will throw more fast balls in a game than Walter Johnson did toward the close of his career, but when Walter wanted to throw a real fast one, it was faster than any Marberry ever threw me."

"I believe Herb Pennock is the craftiest pitcher I ever caught. His control is almost perfect and when it comes to generalship I do not believe he has an equal."

"Had a pitcher once, Bill Piercy, now in the Coast league, who used to cross me up now and then, so one day I told him we would work without signals. We won that one."

"Yes, a catcher now and then switches signs with his pitcher and infielders for you know a smart base runner can grab the signs from second base. A switch in signs is likely to be dangerous to the batter. In fact, I have seen more than one batter hit seriously with a pitched ball right after I had substituted a switch in signals. He would think a fast one was coming and would step right into a curve."

Of course, Muddy as he is known rather than Herold, cannot go on catching forever, but when he does pass out of the big league picture as a catcher Washington is going to have its troubles replacing him. He was a particularly great asset to the Nats in '24 and '25, the two years that Washington won the American league pennant. He caught all but five games for the Nats in '24 and batted close to the 300 mark.

DIAMOND PICK-UPS

Joie Altenburg will be a playing manager at Salisbury. He is an outfielder.

Jeff Tansau, former New York Giant pitcher, is coach of the Dartmouth baseball team.

Lefty Faulkner, bought by Buffalo from the Giants, formerly pitched for Jersey City and Toronto.

"Wee Willie" McGill, old-time pitcher, is assistant baseball coach at Butler university of Indianapolis.

In a letter to a friend Walter Johnson says he hasn't given up the idea of pitching a little. His health is improved.

A stock company is being formed in Henderson, N. C., to take over the Raleigh franchise in the Piedmont league.

Dennis J. Murphy, third string Cub catcher, has been released to the Reading (Pa.) club of the International league.

Toledo has bought seven players from big league clubs—Warner, Neun, Thomas, Taylor, Brown, Freigan and McCurdy.

Charles (Tweet) Walsh, Reading second baseman, was at bat 682 times during the 1928 season. He batted for 526.

So far, Tris Speaker has been able to secure players for his Newark Bears from the Giants, Yankees and Brooklyn.

Cincinnati has signed two more college—Jack Hill, an outfielder from University of California, and Millard Hicks, an infielder from Mercer university.

"Kid" Mohler, one-time star second baseman for the Seattle club, is one of the few southpaws who ever played this position with success in organized baseball.

Atlanta will have a veteran infield in Jim Poole at first, Jack Sheehan at second, Johnny Jones at short and Bill Marriott at third. But other departments are weak.

Though American league hitters are more famous as home run clouters the figures show there were 610 circuit wallopers in the National to 483 in the American, last year.

Jack Quinn, veteran pitcher of Connie Mack's Athletic team training at Fort Myers (Fla.) camp, says: "I hope to win my 20 games this year and see no reason why I can't do it."

Dr. John Lavan of Kansas City, former manager of the Kansas City American association club, has been named to supervise all home games on the University of Missouri baseball schedule.

Farmers Inoculating Legumes

Inoculating seed with liquid pure culture of nitrogen-fixing bacteria.

Washington (AP)—A study of spring planting plans by the department of agriculture shows farmers are using three methods of inoculating the seed of legumes to insure proper development of the root nodules essential to the fixation of nitrogen from the air.

The most common, perhaps, is the application of liquid pure culture to the seed. Another is to distribute the bacterial culture in dry soil and spread this on the field. Others apply to the field a jelly-like substance made from seaweed, known as agar and containing bacteria.

Nitrogen fixation from the air takes place only if the legumes harbor the proper bacteria in their root nodules.

As a rule, legumes without well developed root nodules do not attain a fully satisfactory development. It is not the legume itself, but the bacteria in the nodules that gathers the free nitrogen and transforms it into compounds which are taken up by the host plant. By this means legumes produce large quantities of organic material rich in nitrogen which is valued as human and animal food.

First experiments in the inoculation of legumes were made in Europe 40 years ago. At present several hundred thousand cultures of bacteria are distributed annually in the United States and Europe. It is estimated all the cultures are sufficient for only about two per cent of the legumes planted in this country.

Fewer Deeds and Mortgages Filed

During the month of March there were filed for record with the Ulster county clerk transfers of realty including deeds, rights of way, leases, etc., to the number of 243, being 63 less than during March, 1928, when the number was 306. There were 192 mortgages filed during March, being 74 less than in March, 1928, when 266 were filed for record.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Static, plus local buzzing, plus fading seriously impaired reception Sunday evening. The best station on the air was WENR in Chicago, which seemed to overcome all interference. But it was late when WENR began broadcasting.

Saturday evening reception was excellent with WLW leading. For those who judge reception by volume alone and like lots of noise WGY was a delight early Sunday evening.

West Palm Beach, Fla.—The Robins may have a complete roster able to get into action soon if they continue recovering from their injuries at the present rate. Jim Elliott was in uniform here yesterday for the first time since he pulled a knee tendon ten days ago and Captain Glenn Wright is nearly ready to go back to work.

Shreveport, La.—Manager McGraw has called for a new deal in his two teams of Giants who are barnstorming their way to New York. Eddie Roush, Chick Fullis and Curly Ogden will join the first squad here for today's game while Veltman goes to the second team.

LOCAL VOLLEY BALLERS SCALP ALBANY TEAM.

The local Y. M. C. A. volley ball team took the Albany players into camp Saturday at the local court by trimming the upstarts in four out of five games. Kingston's winning scores were 15-7, 15-10, 15-11 and 15-12. The locals lost the third game, 14-16.

Kingston's win proves that the local volley ball team is getting into shape for entry into the district championship tournament which will be held at Schenectady on April 13. Negotiations have not been made as yet concerning Kingston's entry, but likely will be.

Men who represented the local "Y" on Saturday and who likely will go to the tourney are: Dolson, Murray, Craig, Winde, Brown, Shafeldt, Young, Scott, Hendrickson and Morrissey. After Saturday's game the Kingston and Albany men enjoyed a luncheon prepared by Mrs. Winne and served at the "Y."

Lead of Cloves
From the island of Zanzibar comes the bulk of the world's supply of cloves, there being almost 5,000,000 trees in use in the industry there.

Joie Carpino In First Bout

Although he admits that Captain E. C. Lawman has given him a tough assignment for his first National Guard ring appearance at the local armory next Friday night, Joie Carpino, brother of the well-known Johnnie, fears naught from the bulky Frankie Oba, who beat Frenchy Dewig at the last card of bouts held here.

Joie is scheduled for six rounds with Oba, and plans on giving the Coast Guard boy a hard fight. Carpino is out to trim him and will do fall in his power to take his first fight as a National Guardsman. The Kingston boy is training hard for the setto and already is in very good shape. His sparring partner is his hard hitting brother, whom Joie is able to handle with marked skill. Joie is a two-fisted fighter, which is figured to be a big factor in helping him to scalp Oba.

Oba is going "great guns" around New York and expects little trouble from the Kingston newcomer to the soldier ranks. He figures him an easier "shot" than Frenchy Dewig. It is said, so the coast guardsman will enter the ring with a strong confident feeling, no doubt.

Carpino's rooters are expected to be out in large numbers for the fight. In fact the calibre of the card will pack the armory to capacity, it is forecast. With this thought in mind the management advises all who desire reserved seats to order them early. This can be done by calling the armory.

Ulster County Gun Club Scores

A number of shooters without much experience at the traps have suggested that they would like some practice.

If such persons will notify Superintendent S. Martin, president of the Ulster County Gun Club, or Roswell Coles, field captain, arrangements will be made to hold a school of instruction in the early evenings other than Saturdays.

Some of the older shooters have offered to be at the grounds at such times and give the benefit of their knowledge and experience.

Ulster County Gun Club scores for March 30:

Martin	23
Wheeler	23
Browning	22
Doty	21
Caunitz	21
Longendyke	20
Coles	20
Finch	18
Hopkins	16
Kelder	14

Browning won the weekly prize, also a leg on E. Winter's Sons prize. L. S. Winne & Co. have presented the club with a hand made landing net to be won by the member having actual high score the greatest number of times during April.

Y'S MEN TRIMMED SAUGERTIES TEAM.

After doing no more than holding their own in the first half of their game with the Community Five at Saugerties Saturday night, the Y's Men avenged a former defeat by stepping to the front in the last session and scoring a 35-23 victory over their fast stepping opponents. Chet Dolson, who has been very active in basketball this year, displayed that he is as capable as ever by rolling up the highest individual score of the game, 12 points.

Plans to reorganize the old Michigan-Ontario league have been abandoned for the present.

Charley Berry, Red Sox catcher, has signed to coach football at Grove City college two more years.

Newark has 41 players, among them nine outfielders. Four of the nine outfielders will be used in trades.

The Cardinals will have a fast man in reserve in Fred Haney, bought from Indianapolis. Haney stole 43 bases in the Association.

The latest idea is that Babe Ruth's legs are going bad. This is a drawback. It will take longer to round the bases 30 times a year in a wheel-chair.

Public Enemies
That there are men in all countries who get their living by war and by keeping up the quarrels of nations is as shocking as it is true; but when those who are concerned in the government of a country make it a study to sow discord and cultivate prejudice between nations it becomes the more reprehensible.—Thomas Paine.

Great Asset to Washingtons

THAT good goods come in small packages is exemplified by Herold Ruel, attorney at law and 145-pound catcher of the Washingtons. Ruel, who has been working in the American League for eleven seasons and has caught 100 or more games a season for nine years. Never has Ruel weighed more than 150 pounds while at times his weight has gone below the 140 mark. Nevertheless, he has gone in behind the plate day after day and caught all styles of pitchers, including Walter Johnson, the speed king; Stanley Coveleski and other spitballs; Firpo Marberry, another hurler with terrific speed; Carl Mays, the famous submarine pitcher, and a bunch of rookies whose wildness made them anything but easy to handle.

Muddy Ruel.

In fact, the day he maybe in as a major league catcher with the Browns when only a boy, he was called upon to team up with Grover Lowdermilk, then when there was some wilder.

"No one knew how much speed Lowdermilk ever had," comments Ruel. "He never really threw as hard a ball as he could because of his lack of control. He knew he was wild and feared that if he got everything on the ball that he was capable of he might kill some batter. So he was content to throw a half-speed ball."

"That reminds me that I was catching Carl Mays the day he threw the ball that resulted in Ray Chapman's death. Ray was a great boy. Everyone liked him. I yelled at him, but it was too late. He never had a chance to dodge. Marberry will throw more fast balls in a game than Walter Johnson did toward the close of his career, but when Walter wanted to throw a real fast one, it was faster than any Marberry ever threw me."

"I believe Herb Pennock is the craftiest pitcher I ever caught. His control is almost perfect and when it comes to generalship I do not believe he has an equal."

"Had a pitcher once, Bill Piercy, now in the Coast league, who used to cross me up now and then, so one day I told him we would work without signals. We won that one."

"Yes, a catcher now and then switches signs with his pitcher and infielders for you know a smart base runner can grab the signs from second base. A switch in signs is likely to be dangerous to the batter. In fact, I have seen more than one batter hit seriously with a pitched ball right after I had substituted a switch in signals. He would think a fast one was coming and would step right into a curve."

Of course, Muddy as he is known rather than Herold, cannot go on catching forever, but when he does pass out of the big league picture as a catcher Washington is going to have its troubles replacing him. He was a particularly great asset to the Nats in '24 and '25, the two years that Washington won the American League pennant. He caught all but five games for the Nats in '24 and batted close to the 300 mark.

DIAMOND PICK-UPS

Joe Altenburg will be a playing manager at Salisbury. He is an outfielder.

Jeff Tesreau, former New York Giant pitcher, is coach of the Dartmouth baseball team.

Lefty Faulkner, bought by Buffalo from the Giants, formerly pitched for Jersey City and Toronto.

"Wee Willie" McGill, old-time pitcher, is assistant baseball coach at Butler university of Indianapolis.

In a letter to a friend Walter Johnson says he hasn't given up the idea of pitching a little. His health is improved.

A stock company is being formed in Henderson, N. C., to take over the Raleigh franchise in the Piedmont league.

Dennis J. Murphy, third string Cub catcher, has been released to the Reading (Pa.) club of the International league.

Toledo has bought seven players from big league clubs—Warner, Neun, Thomas, Taylor, Brown, Freigan and McCurdy.

Charles (Tweet) Walsh, Reading second baseman, was at bat 682 times during the 1928 season. He batted for 320.

So far, Tris Speaker has been able to score players for his Newark Bears from the Giants, Yankees and Brooklyn.

The Newark club of the International league announced the signing of Wallie Pipp, veteran major league first sacker.

Cincinnati has signed two more college—Jack Hill, an outfielder from University of California, and Millard Hicks, an infielder from Mercer university.

Hugo Bezdek Will Teach Football During Summer

Hugo Bezdek, director of athletics at Penn State, will give a course in football coaching in the summer session at the college this year. Dean Will C. Chambers, director, announced. The course will run for three weeks, July 1 to 10.

A similar course in basketball instruction will be offered, with Kenneth D. Loeffler, a former Penn State player, in charge. The basketball section will be taken up during the second three weeks of the summer session, July 22 to August 9.

Bezdek has given such courses formerly, but in the last three or four years, Herb McCracken, Lafayette football coach, has been the instructor. Robert A. Higgins, a member of the regular physical education staff, will assist Bezdek in football instruction.

Comeback of Sande

Earl Sande, who retired last year as premier jockey of the land, working out on one of his horses on the track for a comeback. Since the new ruling that jockeys may own horses, Sande will be permitted to ride the steeds of his own stable which he started last year.

Though American league hitters are more famous as home run clouters the figures show there were 610 circuit swallops in the National to 493 in the American, last year.

Jack Quinn, veteran pitcher of Connie Mack's Athletic team training at Fort Myers (Fla.) camp, says: "I hope to win my 20 games this year and see no reason why I can't do it."

Dr. John Lavan of Kansas City, former manager of the Kansas City American association club, has been named to supervise all home games on the University of Missouri baseball schedule.

Mack's 1929 Opinion
"Baseball fans are in for a big surprise this season," said Connie Mack. "Most of the clubs have been strengthened and that is an advantage in our favor."

"Naturally, if the other teams manage to take more games from the Yankees, the New Yorkers won't have the same big advantage as in the past, and that is why I think the Athletics have a better chance than last year."

Farmers Inoculating Legumes

Inoculating seed with liquid pure culture of nitrogen-fixing bacteria.

Washington (AP)—A study of spring planting plans by the department of agriculture shows farmers are using three methods of inoculating the seed of legumes to insure proper development of the root nodules essential to the fixation of nitrogen from the air.

The most common, perhaps, is the application of liquid pure culture to the seed. Another is to distribute the bacterial culture in dry soil and spread this on the field. Others apply to the field a jelly-like substance made from seaweed, known as agar and containing bacteria.

Nitrogen fixation from the air takes place only if the legumes harbor the proper bacteria in their root nodules.

As a rule, legumes without well developed root nodules do not attain a fully satisfactory development. It is not the legume itself, but the bacteria in the nodules that gathers the free nitrogen and transforms it into compounds which are taken up by the host plant. By this means legumes produce large quantities of organic material rich in nitrogen which is valued as human and animal food.

First experiments in the inoculation of legumes were made in Europe 40 years ago. At present several hundred thousand cultures of bacteria are distributed annually in the United States and Europe. It is estimated all the cultures are sufficient for only about two per cent of the legumes planted in this country.

Fewer Deeds and Mortgages Filed

During the month of March there were filed for record with the Ulster county clerk transfers of realty including deeds, rights of way, leases, etc., to the number of 243, being 63 less than during March, 1928, when the number was 306. There were 192 mortgages filed during March, being 74 less than in March, 1928, when 266 were filed for record.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Static, plus local buzzing, plus fading seriously impaired reception Sunday evening. The best station on the air was WENR in Chicago, which seemed to overcome all interference. But it was late when WENR began broadcasting.

Saturday evening reception was excellent with WJW leading. For those who judge reception by volume alone and like lots of noise WGY was a delight early Sunday evening.

CHILDREN'S MASQUERADE AT TEMPLE EMANUEL SUNDAY.

At the children's masquerade held on Easter Sunday morning at the Temple Emanuel, Abel street, first prize for girls was awarded to Ruth Vigden, who impersonated a woman of the Colonial period, being masked and wearing clothes of those days. Master Moray Vigden, her brother, was given first place for boys, he impersonating Uncle Sam. There was a number of competitors and a large number of older people who viewed the pretty affair. Refreshments were served at noon.

When we hurry we all too frequently hurry into mistakes. And we lose all the time we gained in expiating our mistakes.

Churches Filled On Easter Sunday

A balmy Easter Sunday morning brought out large attendances in the churches throughout the city and the sun shining brightly throughout the entire day also gave opportunity for many to display their new Easter dress creations. Automobileists also took advantage of the fair weather to exhibit their new cars.

Despite the adverse weather predictions that the day would be marred by rainfall churchgoers arose early and seeing the beautiful rays of the sun, dressed in their latest Easter finery and walked to church with apparent ease. Special musical programs and appropriate sermons in all the churches were greatly enjoyed. Rich colors, artistic designs and gorgeous corages were made the more beautiful by the sunshine. At the entrance to the churches where many acquaintances were renewed the picture of color and fashion will long be remembered.

Throughout the afternoon and early evening automobile traffic in the city was very heavy. Many out-of-town cars were in the long march. But few minor accidents were reported in this section.

Move to Save Home of Wilson's Boyhood

Columbia, S. C.—A state movement to establish a Woodrow Wilson memorial museum in the old-fashioned white frame house in which the wartime President spent his boyhood days is under way here.

The house was built in the early '70s by Dr. Joseph R. Wilson, father of Woodrow Wilson, who from 1870 to 1874 was a professor at the Columbia Theological seminary.

Going into private hands after a number of attempts to make it public property failed, the Wilson home was resold to make room for a proposed municipal auditorium. This development roused again attempts to save the house.

Bills were introduced in the state legislature to provide that the state appropriate $17,500 contingent upon an equal amount being raised by public subscription and that the property be held by the state historical commission as a permanent memorial museum.

Titled Beauty Turns to Modeling Dresses

London.—Mayfair's trek from bridge to business has gained another recruit. The countess of Erroll is shortly leaving England to become a manikin for a Paris dressmaking firm.

Lady Erroll, wife of the earl of Erroll and a sister of the earl de la Warr, is noted for her gift of wearing clothes beautifully. It is said that the simplest frock becomes distinguished when she puts it on, and a Paris dressmaker once offered to dress her for nothing if she would wear only his creations.

Her initiation into the manikin parade will be made at Cannes, where she will show dresses for the famous designer, Captain Moynaux.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, April 1 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets).—Receipts of Florida cucumbers today totaled 35 carloads and established the season's largest offering for one day. Wholesale prices slumped, particularly on unattractive and poorly graded shipments. Trading was rather slow and business on seven-eighths bushel hampers of the fancy pack was at $2.25-$4. Choice packs realized $1.50-$3.

Last year Florida forwarded 880 carloads of cucumbers to this market, against 1,049 in 1927. Asparagus prices declined. Supplies were heavier and demand generally slow. Sales on California offerings were at $3.75-$8 per dozen bunches. South Carolina consignments brought $3-$3.50.

Lettuce and Romaine from South

Carolina, were largely ordinary and poor. In consequence prices were low. Many carloads were not accepted by commission merchants, due to inability to realize transportation costs.

Little activity prevailed on old and new crop potatoes. Supplies of new were moderate. Old were plentiful. Demand was limited on both and Florida No. 1 Spaulding Rose in barrels jobbed out at $6.25-$6.75. New York upstate round white potatoes in bulk peddled out at $1.80-$2 per 100 pounds.

Supplies of green peas were moderate. Fancy averaged higher in a firmer market, with trading moderate. Crates of approximately 45 pounds from California commanded $6.75-$8.50. Mexico shipments changed hands at $5.50-$8.

Arrivals of rhubarb from California were moderate. Demand continued slow, but the market was without decided change. Various grades in forty-pound boxes brought $2.75-$3.50. Bunched rhubarb from Long Island grown under glass peddled out at 4-8 cents a bunch.
